SOURCE

1. A Soviet officer in East Berlin made the following comments to source on the 25 April issue of Pravda, which printed a full translation of President Eisenhower's 16 April speech: This issue of Pravda was probably printed in a small number of copies or else few copies found their way to sales outlets. Activists and Komsomol members probably bought up the issue for destruction, according to instructions.
2. The Soviet officer claims to have received information from the USSR to the effect that this issue of Pravda was stolen from mailboxes by persons either seeking to destroy it or to read its contents.
- 25X1A 3. [REDACTED] from this Soviet officer that he and his Soviet friends received a demonstration of the special World War III issue of Colliers magazine given by their political officer with the aid of lantern slides; the part dealing with the future U.S. occupation of the Soviet Union was stressed.
